

Network routes

You can configure network routes in this menu.

This might be needed in case if you have several IP addresses configured on server and you want to make outgoing calls sources from different addresses.

Network Routes
	address	netmask	gateway	description
	9.9.9.9	255.255.255.255	192.168.0.1

address - destination host address (to individually route to some host) and destination network (to route whole destination network) network mask - set 255.255.255.255 for destination host, or specify network mask for destination network.

description - information about route.
