

Routing by destination code

The system searches for a match of a destination code of incoming call with configured destination code pattern from the list of Destination code patterns.

In case if match is found, the system uses the list of routes, which are configured for corresponding Destination code pattern.
In case if no match is found, the next priority routing technology is used.

Русский перевод